We must demand child care from our party leaders. It's time to ask them questions about their party plans for ELCC. Take a look at the party platforms in the links below. Look beyond their headlines and read what they are actually promising as it matters to your future and that of Canadian families and children.

Consider asking these three urgent questions below:

Questions:

1. With 8 of the provinces/territories to date agreeing to ELCC system building, what is your party's plan/commitment to honouring and continuing this essential work?
2. Canadian parents have long struggled to find affordable, high quality child care spaces. To support parents and their economic security, how will you be expanding and enhancing child care spaces?
3. My work as a part of Canada's ELCC sector is essential. I am essential. Does your plan make an ongoing commitment to value and support my profession and my work?
